

Notes on Contributors

Greg Johnson is a professor and the director of legal writing at Vermont Law School.

Joseph Kimble is a professor at Thomas Cooley Law School.

Wayne Schiess is the director of legal writing at The University of Texas School of Law. Earlier versions of three of his five articles appeared in his book Writing for the Legal Audience. His article E-Mail Like a Lawyer originally appeared in his book Better Legal Writing: 15 Topics for Advanced Legal Writers. His article When Your Boss Wants It the Old Way originally appeared in the Texas Bar Journal.

Peter Siviglia formerly practiced in New York City and is now semiretired in Tarrytown, New York. His article Designs for Courses on Drafting Contracts expands on an article that appeared in the New York State Bar Journal.

Thomas M. Steele, now deceased, was a professor at Wake Forest University School of Law.

Norman Otto Stockmeyer is an emeritus professor at Thomas Cooley Law School.

