

Notes on Contributors

J. Kendall Few, a South Carolina lawyer, is the founder of the American Jury Trial Foundation.

Stephen F. Fink is a shareholder in the Dallas law firm of Thompson & Knight.

Clyde Leland is an in-house trainer and editor at the Oakland law firm of Crosby, Heafey, Roach & May.

Richard H. Miller is an in-house trainer and editor at the law firm of Wiggin & Dana in New Haven, Connecticut.

Charles Rembar is a partner in the New York law firm of Rembar & Curtis.

Robert Sack is a partner in the Washington office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher.

Gerry Spence is a partner in the law firm of Spence, Moriarity & Schuster, in Jackson, Wyoming.

Jack Stark is the assistant chief counsel for the Legislative Reference Bureau with the State of Wisconsin.

Mark E. Steiner, a Houston lawyer, recently received his Ph.D. in history from the University of Houston.

