

From the Editor

With this volume, West Publishing Company completes its undertaking to print and mail the Journal as a public service to the American legal profession. Over the past several years, West has been generous in working with Scribes and with the Journal's editors. To Bill Lindberg, Bob Barten, and Pat Sparks — our friends and collaborators at West — many thanks. It has been a great privilege working with you.

Although the Journal's future publisher is yet unknown, the editors remain committed to producing it.
