

Notes on Contributors

Mary Beth Beazley is director of Legal Writing at the Ohio State University College of Law and president of the Legal Writing Institute.

Susan Benjamin is president of Words at Work International in Washington, D.C.

Richard Bingler is a legal editor at The Bureau of National Affairs in Washington, D.C.

Ken Bresler is a former trial attorney for the U.S. Justice Department and staff attorney for the Securities and Exchange Commission. His article is reprinted from The Chicago Daily Law Bulletin, 16 Aug. 1990.

Frank W. Bullock Jr. is a judge with the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina.

Beverly Ray Burlingame is a shareholder with the Dallas-based law firm of Thompson & Knight.

Frederick Doherty is a legislative drafter in the Legal Division of the Michigan Legislative Service Bureau.

James Joseph Duane is a professor at the Regent University School of Law in Virginia Beach and a member of the Faculty of the Trial Advocacy Institute at the University of Virginia Law School.

Jo Anne Durako is director of Legal Research and Writing at Rutgers-Camden Law School.

Robert D. Eagleson, formerly a professor of English at the University of Sydney, is now a writing consultant at Mallesons Stephens Jaques.

Mark L. Evans is a shareholder with the Washington, D.C.-based law firm of Kellogg, Huber, Hansen, Todd & Evans, P.L.L.C.

Bryan A. Garner of Dallas is the president of LawProse, Inc. He is an adjunct professor at Southern Methodist University School of Law. His tribute to Professor Charles Alan Wright originally appeared at 76 Texas Law Review 1587 (1998).

C. Kenneth Grosse is a judge with the Washington State Court of Appeals.

Stephen C. Halpern is a professor at the University at Buffalo in New York.

Joseph Kimble is a professor at the Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing, Michigan. An earlier form of this article appeared in Business Law Today, July–August 2000.

Jan M. Levine is director of Legal Research & Writing at Temple University in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Nancy Bellhouse May is a partner with the Little Rock-based law firm of Wright, Lindsey & Jennings LLP.

Peggy L. Miller teaches at Manatee Community College in Bradenton, Florida.

Richard C. Wydick is a professor at the University of California at Davis.